Part of: Regional Forum on Sustainable Development for the UNECE Region taking place in Geneva and online, 6-7 April 2022. The most up to date programme is continuously being updated on the event’s webpage.

Session Description:
Some of the fastest growing industries are also the most male-dominated ones. And even when gender equality is prioritized, progress often tends to not be evenly spread, with barriers for women persisting in certain corporate functions. During this session, leaders from various industries will address how they are advancing gender equality in the workplace and marketplace and share their solutions to questions like: How can you set realistic but ambitious targets for women's leadership when female workforce participation is low? How do you ensure flexibility and support working parents when simply working from home is not an option? How can you anticipate backlash, tackle stereotypes and engage male leadership and colleagues in meaningful ways?

Date and Time:
- April 7, 1.00-2.30PM CET
